

Win a trip to Paris at CLS 21!

The George Washington University & Georgetown University French Embassy Centers of Excellence invite GWU and Georgetown students to participate in the Civil Liberties & Security in 21st Century Europe Taskforce Simulation (“CLS 21”) to be held on Saturday, April 23, 2016.

During CLS 21, students will research and develop positions regarding EU member state policy on issues such as mobility, freedom of expression and domestic surveillance in the wake of the Paris attacks. At the simulation participants will defend their positions in teams of three with panels of topic experts and French military officers serving as respondents.

Both the top three GWU students and the top three Georgetown students participating in CLS 21 will win all expense paid study tours to travel to Paris, France, in June 2016 to partner with elite French military officers as participants at the CLS 21 Taskforce Simulation at Ecole de Guerre.

Interested students should contact GWU Debate & Literary Society Director Paul Hayes at GWDebate.Hayes@gmail.com before April 1, 2016, to register and for more details.
