

EngAGement Series

Join us for a series of virtual recruitment events that will provide you with the opportunity to learn more about economic consulting, health care analytics, and the various career opportunities that AG has to offer.

You will learn about our firm, culture, practice areas, training and mentorship programs, and more. While these sessions are mostly geared toward candidates seeking summer 2022 internships, we invite undergraduate and graduate students to join, network with our teams, and learn more about AG.

We ask that you fill out a short registration form (below) to explore which sessions may be best suited for you. Zoom links and additional information will be emailed following registration.
